Andrea Pamham

Call: 2013

Crime

Andrea Pamham regularly appears in the crown court on behalf of the prosecution or the defence. She has been instructed in a wide variety of cases including assaults, drug cases, burglary, robbery, aggravated burglary, firearms, sexual and homicide offences. She is known for her approachable style when dealing with witnesses and clients, and she takes care to ensure that they fully understand the proceedings of which they are to be a part. Andrea is adept at dealing with cases that involve both vulnerable and intimidated witnesses as well as vulnerable Defendants.

“Worked over and above anything she was instructed to do always being proactive, endlessly reassuring, efficient and cheerful” – CPS Lawyer

Andrea has been instructed as disclosure junior in large scale operations involving high numbers of both complainants and defendants. She has ably dealt with various complex issues that have arisen pre-trial and during proceedings.

Andrea has had great success arguing exceptional circumstances when representing clients facing statutory minimum sentences, successfully persuading Judges that any sentence could not only be below the minimum term, but could also be properly suspended.

Andrea has represented several prosecuting authorities including the CPS, the Department of Rural, Health and Welfare, the Child Support Agency, the police, the Environment Agency, Fire Service and HMRC.

Andrea has been instructed for both the prosecution and the defence in several complex confiscation matters including issues such as third party interests, tainted gifts and hidden assets.

Andrea was called to the Bar after an 11-year career in the police service involving operational, investigative and executive roles. She was a detective and attained the rank of inspector. Her previous experience and thorough working knowledge of police policy and procedure has often proved invaluable and has helped shape her exceptional people skills and her forensic approach to detail in cases.

Casualty Fraud

Andrea Parnham is happy to accept instructions in all aspects of civil fraud.

Her 'first six' pupillage was under the supervision of Matthew Smith, a specialist in this area. During her time with Matthew Smith she was able to experience a wide variety of cases including staged and contrived accidents, low-velocity-impact (LVI) cases, bogus passenger claims, credit hire and exaggerated credit hire, personal injury and exaggerated PI claims, and all otherwise dishonest claims. This was over a range of settling pleadings, advising on quantum and settlement, case management hearings and fast- and multi-track trials.

Andrea has significant experience in credit hire work predominately defence based but has acted for the claimant as well. This enables her to argue points from both sides and is readily able to successfully counter arguments. She has an excellent eye for detail and has been complimented on her forensic and robust cross examination of witnesses which is often successful in reducing the extent of any award.

Andrea has accepted instructions in the County Court, regularly appearing in interlocutory hearings and final hearings Including:

- Interlocutory injunctions
- Applications to set aside default Judgment/Summary Judgment
- Applications to strike out proceedings
- Summary Judgment applications
- Disposal hearings and MOJ Stage 3 hearings
- Case Management hearings
- Small Claims
- Fast-track hearings

She regularly advises on matters such as quantum and liability and can turn around papers quickly and efficiently to meet deadlines.
